

883.F.9

BIBLIOTECA

1a/44633

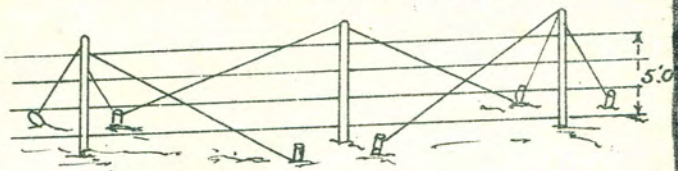

[S.S.636]

EXAMPLE OF THE ORGANIZATION OF A GERMAN SUPPORTING POINT

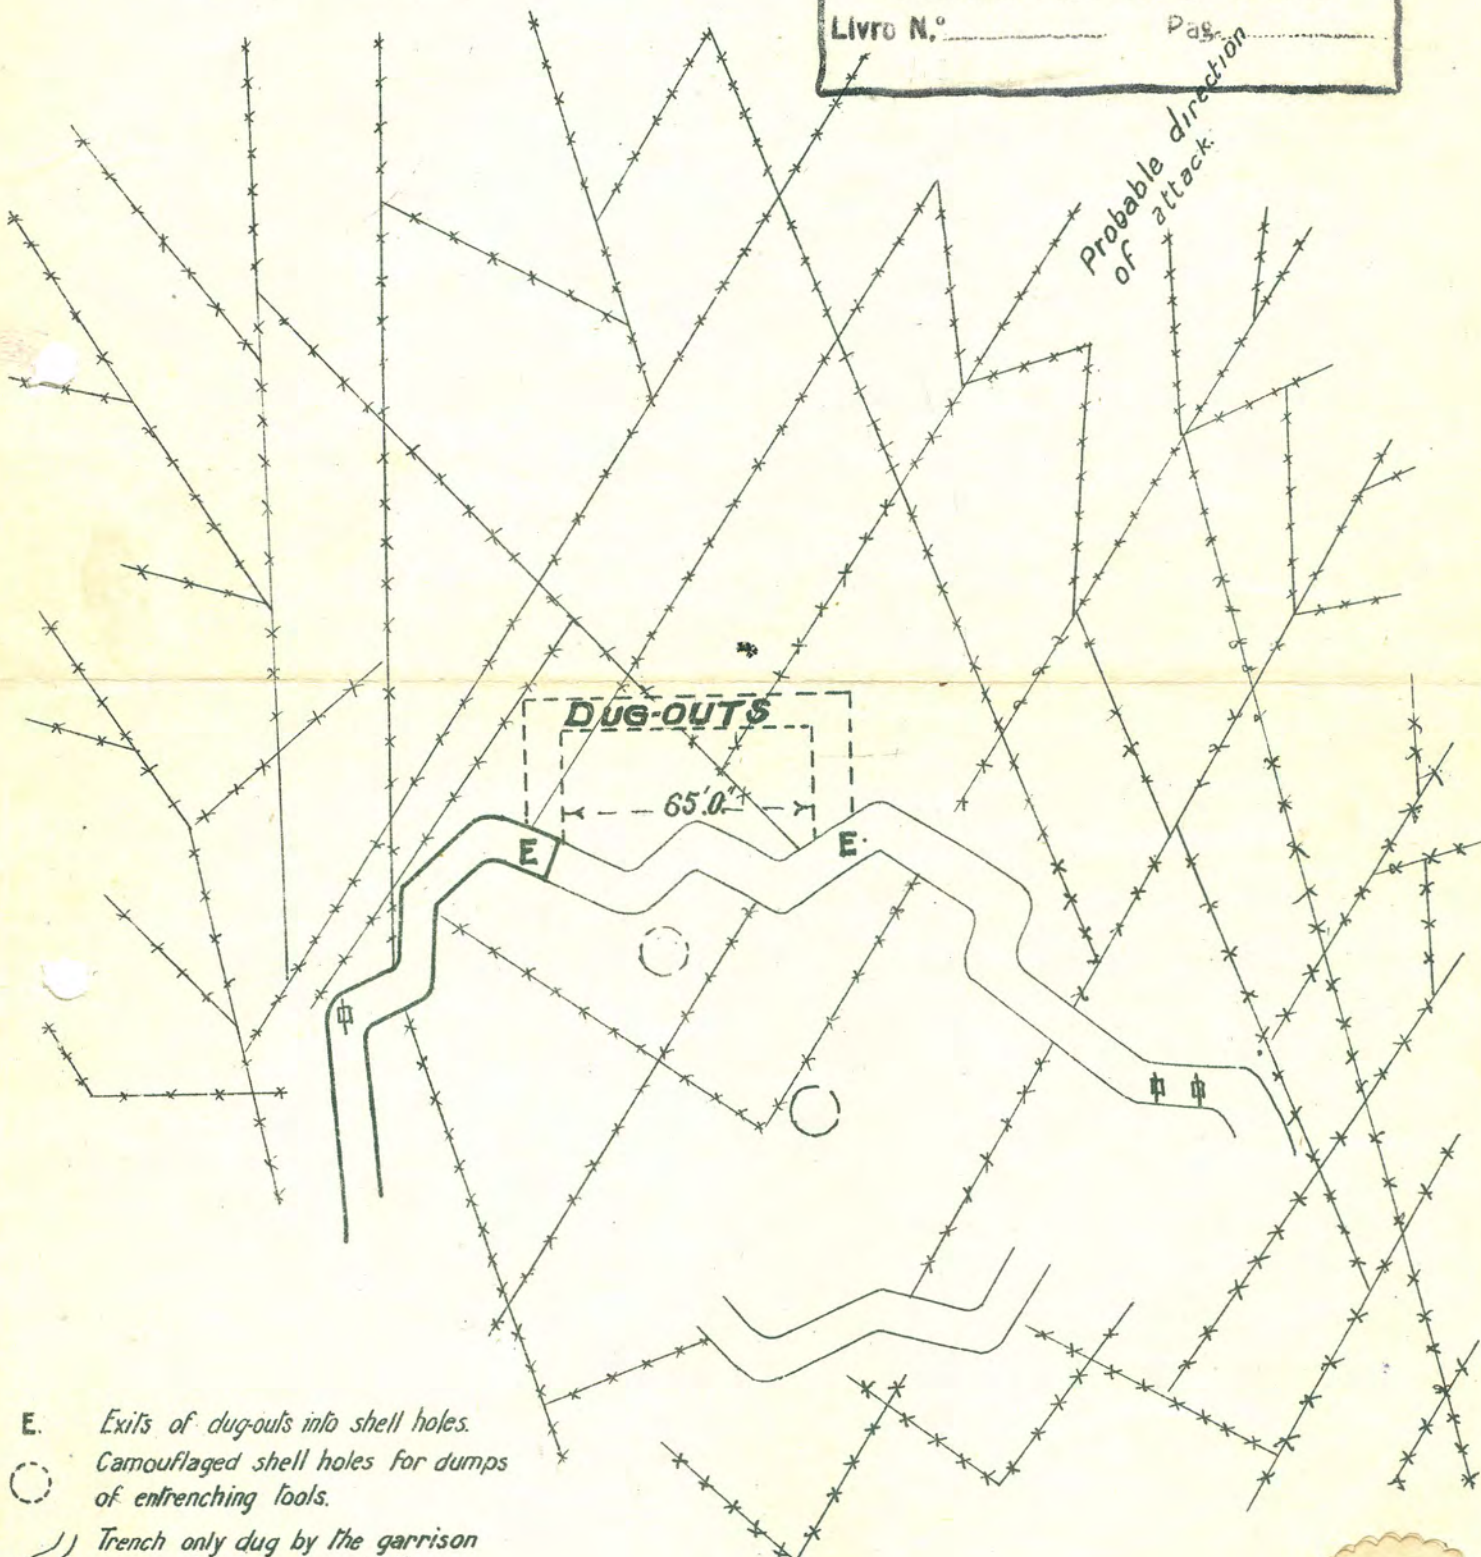

which it is endeavoured to conceal until required for use.

The original work executed is an approach trench, the dug-out, with camouflaged entrances, the wire fences, and the shell holes for dumps of tools. During the defensive battle, the garrison completes the supporting point by the addition of trenches as shown.

VIEW OF BARBED WIRE FENCE

BIBLIOTECA DO EXERCITO
(Antiga Biblioteca do E. M. E.)
N.º 883	Custo
Aumentado em 16-9-19
Livro N.º	Pag.

- E. Exits of dug-outs into shell holes.
- Camouflaged shell holes for dumps of entrenching tools.
- ~ Trench only dug by the garrison during the defensive battle.
- ~ Trench dug previously.
- ⊕ Emplacements for stick bomb-throwers (Granatwerfer).

Approximate scale 1/600.

