

Project of a building with the following description:
The building is a rectangular structure with a central corridor and several rooms of varying sizes. The drawing shows the layout of the building, including the walls, doors, and furniture.